SPOKESMAN FOR DEMOCRAT MAKES ANNOUNCEMENT

Supporting Faction Advocates Pro Enforcement and Farm Relief

STATEMENT PUBLISHED BY CHICAGO PAPER

Vice-Chairman Pre-Convention Committee in Last Race Talks

CHICAGO, Sept. 14, (AP)—William Gibbs McAdoo will again be a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1928, a candidacy backed by a faction advocating strict enforcement of the Volstead act and the adoption of farm relief measures, according to George Milton, editor of The News, Chattanooga, Tenn., whose statement was published in the Daily News here today.

Milton was vice chairman of McAdoo's pre-convention committee in 1924, and at present regarded as his spokesman, The News said.

LOOSENED SPIKES CAUSED WRECK OF TRAIN AND DEATH

Arkansas Engineer Killed and Fireman Injured In Sunshine Special Smash

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Sept. 14. The wreck of the Missouri Pacific Sunshine Special en route from New Orleans to St. Louis, which cost the life of George Bushey, Little Rock engineer, and severely injured H. J. Munds of Little Rock, fireman, was deliberately executed, officials announced today after an investigation of the scene near McGehee, Ark.

Rail officials said that rail fastenings had been moved and spikes pulled, causing one of the rails to turn under the engine. A spike puller and wrench were found by the roadbed.

Bloodhounds in charge of officials were sent to the scene this morning. No clue was available as to the identity of any of the wreckers.

Relief trains were sent from Little Rock and announcement was made that the wreckage would be cleared before night.

The engine and a combination mail and baggage car, two baggage cars and one coach were derailed.

Seven negro passengers were slightly injured.

Both of Mund's legs and one arm were broken.

SNAG STRUCK IN DAUGHERTY CASE

Government Temporarily Abandons Attempt To Prove Fraud

NEW YORK, Sept. 14, (AP)—The government today abandoned its attempt to show that Harry M. Daughtery and Thomas Miller conspired to defraud the United States and spent its efforts toward proving that the several million dollars claim paid Richard Merton was not valid.

The specific charge on which Daugherty and Miller are on trial is "conspiracy to defraud the United States of their unbiased an unprejudiced, honest and intelligent services."

FIRST CASUALTY IN FOOTBALL IN TEXAS

GILMER, Sept. 14—Football's first casualty was recorded here Tuesday afternoon when Tray Vivian, 14, suffered a broken leg at the Gilmer ward school.

THE WEATHER

East Texas: Wednesday and Thursday, partly cloudy; light to fresh southerly winds on the coast.

West Texas: Wednesday and Thursday, partly cloudy; probably showers in Panhandle.

WATER MOCCASIN UP PANTS LEG RESULTS IN FAST SNAKE DANCE

SYLVESTER, Tex, Sept. 14. (AP)—A five foot water moccasin up H. F. Medley's trouser leg caused him to execute some bizarre and original dance steps while the snake bit him five times at a certain section of anatomy on a Brazos river fishing trip recently.

Medley, a local merchant, was rushed by companions to Roby for medical aid, but the physician said the bites were harmless. The snake had been aroused by Medley's friends standing in shallow water. It dived and took refuge up his pants leg. He finally seized the reptile eight inches behind the head and disengaged it.

TEXAS-OKLAHOMA BOUNDARY LINE SURVEY FINISHED

Arthur Stiles Reports Boundary Line Satisfactorily Established at All Places

Special to The News.

CLARKSVILLE, Sept. 14.—Arthur A. Stiles, former reclamation engineer for the state of Texas, left Clarksville Monday for his home in Austin, immediatel yafter completion of final work in conection with the establishment of a permanent boundary line between Texas and Oklahoma.

Mr. Stiles states that the boundary has finally been established in all questionable places between the two states, following the course of Red river for a distance of 550 miles. The new boundary has been staked with bois d'arc posts in all cut-offs.

Public hearings have been held in all counties on both sides of the river, and if there are any objections or dissatisfactory views of the work as staked out uo intimation of it has come to the boundary commission.

As far as is known every decision in the matter is satisfactory to the people on both sides of the river, from Childress to Lanesport. All field work has been completed, employes of the commission have been discharged and all equipment used in the lengthy surveying campaign has been disposed of, and the commission is now preparing a final report, which will be delivered to the supreme court of the United States in Washington early in November. The commission will then ask to be discharged, as the case will formally be closed with the submission of the forthcoming report.

The boundary referred to is along Red river, beginning at the 100th meridian, near Childress and ending at the Arkansas state line near Lanesport, a short distance from Foreman, Ark.

Arthur A. Stiles of Austin, and Arthur D. Kidder of Washington, D. C., were members of the commission. Mr. Stiles left Clarksville Monday to prepare the first draft of the final report, after which he will join Commissioner Kidder in Washington where papers in connection wit hthe case wil lbe perfected and filed with the supreme court.

Before leaving Clarksville Mr. Stiles gave out the announcement that he will be an applicant for his old position as state reclamation engineer, under the Moody administration.

Evangelist Says Paid Woman For Cottage Evidence

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 14. (AP)—Aimee Semple McPherson, evangelist, today admitted that she had paid money to Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman-Sielaff in an effort to obtain evidence to disprove reports she occupied a cottage at Carmel, Cal., with a man identified as Kenneth Ormiston, following her alleged kidnaping last May.

The evangelist's statement was in reply to charges by Mrs. Wiseman-Sielaff that her story that "Miss X" and not Mrs. McPherson, occupied cottage was a hoax engineered by Mrs. McPherson.

Mrs. McPherson said "considerable money" had been given Mrs. Wiseman-Sielaff to carry on an investigation and we frankly acknowledge we were utterly fooled."

Switchman Killed.

DALLAS, Sept. 14. (AP)—Attempting to flag a heavy gravel truck at a railroad crossing Charles Lucas, 67, switchman was instantly killed this afternoon when crushed between a locomotive tender and the truck.

FERGUSON GROUP OPPOSES PROBE BY COMMITTEE

Ferguson Spokesman in House Says Governor Wants Immediate Investigation

RESOLUTION ASKING FOR INQUIRY ADOPTED

Would Look Into Highway Body, Pardon Board and Report to Next Legislature

AUSTIN, Sept. 14, (AP)—Supporters of Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson in the house of the thirty-ninth legislature are opposed to an investigation of state deportments by a committee that will report to the fortieth legislature, Rep. Reuben Loftin of Henrietta, Ferguson floor leader, Tuesday told the Associated Press.

He declared the investigation should be started immediately by the thirty-ninth legislature.

Rep. Loftin, n annou cement placed the Ferguson forces in direct opposition to the resolution asking appointment of a committee of nine house membrs to conduct an investigation of the highway commission, textbook commission and pardon board and report to the fortieth legislature. This resolution, signed by 48 members, was referred to the committee on state affairs.

A. H. King of Throckmorton and George Purl of Dallas and about fifty other representatives introduced the resolution.

In both the senate and house scores of bills to validate district road bonds aggregating $100,000,000, affected by the United States supreme court decision in the Archer county road bond case, were introduced within thirty minutes Nearly a hundred had been introduced in the senate and fifty-five had been presented in the house. They were refered to the various committees of which the proponents were members.

Rferred to Committee

The resolution calling for investigation was referred to the committee on state affairs, as was a resolution by Representative Alfred Petsch that a senate committee be asked to work in conjunctio with the house committee,

BODY MUTILATION CLUES CONFUSING

Outrage at Houston Is Dupplication Of Three Similar Cases In Same City

HOUSTON, Sept. 14, (AP)—Statement that conflicting, tangled skeins of evidence leading to several possible motives, was the progress made Tuesday by police in investigation of the disinterment and mutilation Sunday night of the body of Miss Mamie Bichon, found dead from poisoning in her auto the previous Wednesday night, and buried in a cemetery here Saturday afternoon.

Few officials have been called upon to solve a crime of this nature, but it was pointed out that the outrage was a duplication of three cases brought to light in Houston several years ago. In each instance the bodies were removed from fresh graves, mutilated, and crammed back into the casket.

BRITISH FORCE ENGAGE CHINESE

Reports Indiicate Two Thousand Chinese Killed, Say Dispatches Exaggerated

LONDON, Sept. 14. (AP)—Reports from China printed here today describe serious fighting on September 5, between the British punitive field forces and Chinese.

Some dispatches reported 2,000 Chinese casualties. The officials here say the figure is "very greatly exaggerated," though it is admitted the affray was serious.

OUTBREAK OF TYPHUS IN HANOVER GROWS SERIOUS

ARMED BAND BEATS MAN IN AMBULANCE

Man Wounded in Liquor Raid and On Way to Hospital Badly Handled

BENTON, Ill., Sept. 14.—Five of six armed men stopped an ambulance today and beat into unconsciousness Mack Bulliam, who was shot in a renewal of the Williamson county liquor warfare early Sunday morning.

Bulliam was being brought from a hospital at Herrin to a hospital here.

Bachelors Club Gets Laugh From Women of Texas

FT. WORTH, Sept. 14, (AP)—If the men folks of Slaton or any other West Texas town think they can drive the girls to desperation by joining bachelor's clubs, they have another think coming, in the opinion of Ft. Worth femininity.

Mrs. F. L. Jaccard, president of the Y. W. C. A., admits that men have a right to organize a Texas Bachelor's club if they like, and to put up all the $100 forfeits they like, but she believes they have defeated their own purpose in organizing.

"The mere fact that the club anticipates 10,000 new members throughout Texas within the next three months will prove the greatest possible impetus toward a sudden increase in marriages, in my opinion," she said.

Miss Frances Bothwell, "Y" executive secretary, denies that the purpose of the club is to "relieve suffering mankind," and brands it as just another excuse for organizing.

"All the attractive men are married anyway," she said, and added that the reason they are attractive is that their wives have them well trained.

DYNAMITE BLAST KILL FOUR MEN

Fifteen Hundred Pounds of Explosives Causes Fatalities and One Injury

JOPLIN, Mo., Sept. 14. (AP)—Four men were killed in an explosion of about 1,500 pounds of a dynamite mixture at the plant of the Atlas Powder company near here this afternoon. A fifth workman was injured and taken to a hospital.

Immunity Plea Saves Diplomat's Wife From Jury

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—The plea of diplomatic immunity, which is becoming more frequently heard in Washington, as a result of traffic accidents, served today to save Mme. Margaret Hume Entezem, wife of the third secretary of the Persian legation, from being presented to a grand jury as the result of the death of Thomas J Cadel, 77 years old, killed here Saturday in an automobile collision.

Mme. Entezem, who before her marriage was a Washington society girl, was held by a coroner's jury to be responsible for the accident in which her automobile collided with that of Cadel. The assistant district attorney advised the jury to refrain from holding her for grand jury action because of the immunity granted members of the diplomatic corps and members of their families.

SAY POISON IN CHILD'S STOMACH

Autopsy Held In Hugo By County Health Officer, Father Held For Murder

Special to The News.

HUGO, Okla., Sept. 14, (AP)—An autopsy performed on the body of the year old infant of J. L. Atterberry, charged with murder of the child, disclosed that it died from poison in the stomach, according to County Physician G. E. Harris. Dr. Harris, assisted by Victor Senner, mortician, performed the autopsy.

Atterbery is still held in jail following his arrest on the murder charge. The child's mouth was burned by an acid, authorities announced after an investigation. The case is not discusssed in much detail by the authorities.

New Directors of Lamar Club

Stockholders of Lamar Country Club held a meeting at the club house on Tuesday evening and elected these directors for the coming year: T. F. Justiss, T. L. Beauchamp, Sam Payne, George Griffiths, H. G. Wheat, W. C. McDowell, Dr. R. D. Griffis, W. R. Eubanks, and J. E. Yeargan.

These officers were elected by the board: T. F. Justiss, president; W. C. McDowell, vice president; Roscoe Floyd, secretary.

About sixty-five members were present for the delightful dinner served by Mrs. Bowden, in the main hall of the clubhouse.

NEW TRIAL SOUGHT IN M'DONALD CASE

Contestants Contend Court Erred In Overruling Testimony in Making Charge

A formal motion for new trial has been filed by the contestants and intervenors in the W. J. McDonald will case.

No date has been set for hearing of the motion, but court will adjourn for the term the last of next week; and an attorney for the contestants, intimated Monday that the argument for a new trial would be presented probably next week.

In the meantime an amended motion is expected to be prepared in which the alleged grounds for a new trial are expected to be set forth in more detail.

The motion for new trial follows in part:

"The court erred in suppressing the answers of Mrs. Irene McDonald on motion of proponents to interrogations propounded to her by contestants, as is fully shown by the judgment and order of the court made on said motion.

"The court erred in suppressing certain answers of the witness Miss Connie McCuistion, to interrogations propounded to her by contestants, all of which is fully shown by the order of the court made and entered on the motion filed by proponents.

"The court erred in refusing to give in its charge to the jury the contestants requested special charge.

Convict Lawyer In Assault Case

DALLAS, Sept. 14. (AP)—W. C. Hensley, Dallas lawyer, was fined $500 and sentenced to a year in jail today by a county court jury trying him on a charge of "aggravated assault" on an 11-year-old girl. He had appealed a $100 corporation court fine.

Evidence at the trial purported to show that Hensley placed his hands on the girl by whom he seated himself in a theater. She called her father seated nearby. Hensley, it was alleged, then left for the street, where the father followed and summoned a policeman.

Klan Program Is Mapped By Evans

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—An immediate offensive against "Romanism alienism, bolshevism and anti-Americanism" was the battle cry sounded here to the Ku Klux Klan by its Emperor and Imperial Wizard, Dr. H. W. Evans.

There was instant response from hundreds of delegates, and time and again, as the imperial wizard mapped out the program, the hall rang with chers of the knights.

TEACHERS SELECT INTERSCHOLASTIC LEAGUE OFFICERS

Program of Teachers' Institute Introduces Allied Subjects of Interest

VALUE OF PUBLIC HEALTH TO CHILD IS DISCUSSED

Home Economics Class Features Sectional Meetings for Week's Study

Re-organization of the Lamar County Interscholastic league was a feature of the program at the second day of the teachers institute now in session at the high school building, and these directors were elected to arrange plans, rules and dates:

Director general—J. R. McLemore, Paris Junior college.

Class B athletics—Mr. Williams, Deport principal.

Rural athletics—D. D. Stringer, Brookston.

Declamation—A. Z. Hayes, Petty.

Debate—Mr. Benson, Deport superintendent.

Spelling—Miss Eula Burns, Direct.

Essay—Miss Louise Black, Blossom.

Arithmetic—Burton Mason, Atlas.

Music memory — Mrs. Leona Frey, Paris.

In addition, several topics of interest from the standpoint of child welfare and education, aside from the general program were introduced.

Mrs. C. R. West, county chairman for P. T. A. work, and Mrs. Roy Dunagan and Mrs. Walter Faught, officers of the Paris council were present at the morning session, and Mrs. Dunagan spoke on the organization of P. T. A's. as aids to the teacher as well as the parent. The ladies afterward visited each section of the institute work, and found practically all the teachers in favor of the work.

Mrs. West spoke on the relationship of teachers and parents to child welfare work, and the common interest, stressing the need for public health in this connection.

Dr. Ora Miner, conductor of the institute and supervisor for the high school section, followed with a lecture on "The Teacher and Public Health." The teacher, he said, is expected to do everything, that is, all he wants to do, plus the things he ought to do, and the present trend in educational principles calls for a new program.

Comprehensive Talk

He discussed all sorts of things which have a bearing on the general welfare of the school, from the need for improved sanitary canditions, to the effect of the color scheme used inside and out in painting the school. Beauty

POINCARE VISITED BY ITALIAN ENVOY

Interview Asked by Ambassador Thought To Concern Attack On Mussolini

PARIS, Sept. 14. (AP)—The Italian ambassador to France called on Premier Poincare today, the interview being arranged at the former's request. It was not revealed whether he replied to the protest of the French ambassador in Rome against the Italian press attacks on France, growing out of the attempted assassination of Mussolini, or whether he protested in his turn, against the French press comment on Mussolini's speech following the premier's escape.

The French press today was a unit in condemning the anti-French statement of the Italian papers.

Australian Rail Accident Takes Numerous Lives

SYDNEY, New South Wales, Sept. 14.—The wreck in the mountains of Brisbane county last night was the most disastrous ever known in this country. On the list already compiled, there are twenty-six dead and a number injured. The accident happened at midnight near Murulla, when four run-away cars loaded with wool, and traveling with great speed, crashed into a mail train, head-on.

THREE BURN TO DEATH IN FLAT AT HILLSBORO

Property Loss To Apartment of Forty-Six Thousand Dollars

TWO NEGRO CHILDREN BURN IN TROUP FIRE

D. W. Ray Dies In Grain Building Fire At Waco, Firemen Hurt

DALLAS, Sept. 14, (AP)—Six persons were burned to death and five others were injured in a series of Texas fires Tuesday.

Ms. Florine Tippett, her son Ray, age 3, and her sister, Dean Roberts were buerned to death at Hillsboro when trapped in their apartment by fie which caused damage of $46,000. Charles Hill and Abner Bryant, members of the volunteer fire department, and J. J. Davidson and Joe Nye were severely burned fighting the blaze.

At Waco D. W. Ray, 57, was fatally burned when fire destroyed a grain company building.

Two negro children of Swan Lacy burned to death when their farm home was destroyed near Troup. The father was seriously burned trying to save them.

At Hillsboro the Central Motor company, J. W. Parks' garage and the Walter Fowler cafe, housed by the building, were destroyed.

The fire started from some undetemined source in the north side of the building, and was noticed first by Night Patrolman Leo Keaton, who sounded an alarm about 1:30 a. m.

Lost in a smoke-fogged hall, the woman and children could not be found by firemen searching the flats. H. A. Tippett, husband of the woman victim, is said to be working in Dallas.

The building loss was $20,000, the Central Motor company about $20,000, Parks' garage $3,500, Fowler cafe about $1,750, and rooming house fixtures on second floor about $800.

LOCARNO TREATY IS REGARDED AS NEW PEACE STEP

Ratifications of Document Placed with Other League Nations Archives

GENEVA, Sept. 14. (AP)—Another historic step was taken today in the European reconciliation with the deposit with the secretariat of the League of Nations of the ratifications of the Locarno treaties of security and arbitration. This was followed by an optimistic statement by Gustave Stresemann, the German foreign minister, to the British correspondent, that the Locarno accord had completely changed the political situation in Europe.

"It is," he declared, "the end of the policy of mistrust and the first of an era of collaboration."

ARKANSAS BANK IS ROBBED BY YOUTHS

Officers Search Country For Pair Who Took Five Thousand

ALMA, Ark., Sept. 14. (AP)—The hill country of northwest Arkansas was the refuge tonight of two youthful gunmen, who today robbed the Bank of Alma, carrying off more than $5,000, without firing a shot.

The bandit pair fled from the scene of the holdup in a small auto which brought them to Alma, exchanged the car for another which they took from a man they encountered on a road, and were gone northward into the mountains before pursuit could be organized.

Mexicans in Fray With Yaqui Tribe

NOGALES, Ariz., Sept. 14. (AP)—Gen. Francisco Anthena, commandant of the garrison at Nogales, Sonora, Mexico, tonight was advised of a battle between 1,500 Yaqui Indians and Mexican troops near Vicam, Sonora. No mention of casualities was made.

LEGISLATORS MOVE TO RAISE SCHOOL FUNDS

Petition Signed Urging Governor to Submit Issue to Called Legislature

AUSTIN, Sept. 14. — A petition from the members of the house of representatives that she submit to the thirty-ninth legislature, meeting here in call session, the question of raising the per capita scholastic apportionment from $11.50 to at least $15, will be presented Tuesday to Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson.

Early Tuesday 20 representatives had signed the petition and Representative H. T. Brown of Jacksonville, who was circulating it, said no member approached had declined to sign.

It had been generally predicted that Governor Ferguson, in her communication of Monday, would recommend a 3-cent a gallon gasoline tax, but this she failed to do.

The petition states that the $11.50 apportionment is insufficient to "maintain the schools of this state for either the length of time or with that high degree of efficiency to which the children of this commonwealth are justly entitled," and that the people of Texas are confident this session of the legislature will provide additional revenue.

The petition urges the governor to submit for consideration of the legislature the ways and means of securing the necessary funds to raise the apportionment. It points out that liberal deficiencies have been allowed for support of higher institutions of learning to care for unforeseen expansion and that the common schools also have experienced a remarkable expansion.

TEACHERS SELECT

and harmony can be brought out in this way just as surely as any other, and has its psychologic effect on the pupil.

Physical defects retard the progress of the child, make him backward and slow in his studies, and generally result in the impairment of some faculty, which proves a very real and serious handicap in later life, he declared. Eyesight, teeth, hearing, bronchial diseases, curvature of the spine from improperly adjusted seats, desks and light are very common among school children, especially in the rural districts.

The teacher must be the medium for aiding the parent in having these corrected before it is too late, he warned.

Health Song

Mrs. Leona Frey, supervisor of music in the Paris schools, led a health song which illustrated some of these ideas.

An interesting innovation in institute work is the periods for instruction in home economics, departments each day in cooking and sewing, studying some problem for the teacher who has introduced these subjects into the courses.

Mrs. Lewis Thomas and Miss Norma Stokes, two experienced teachers in this line, gave an excellent demonstration Tuesday in canning, with instructions for various fruits and vegetables. The class in sewing also had a very interesting lesson, and the wee gingham aprons they made as hand work were neatly finished.

A great many helpful suggestions were made by Professor Harris of the North Texas State Teachers college at Denton, in charge of the intermediate section, in his discussion of the daily program in grades.

In the afternoon, his discussion of nature study and patriotism emphasized the idea of conservation as a means of expressing practical loyalty to one's country, in view of the ever increasing demand upon its natural resources. He cited the effect of "unbalancing" nature, such as killing the owls and hawks which free the farmers' fields of rats, mice and other rodents which destroy the crops. He also gave statistics to show the great quantities of destructive insects which the smaller birds devour, thus protecting the food crops of the country.

Miss Alford, also of the Denton college, instructor in the primary section, with the aid of ten second grade pupils from First Ward school, gave an interesting demonstration in silent reading, the child reading a little story to himself, then coloring a small picture at the top of the page, according to the details of the story. This illustrated the clarity with which the child had read the descriptions.

The two high school sectional meets, under direction of Professor Skipper of Roxton, were devoted to discussions in history, with outlines for teaching and recitation, including the importance of collateral reading.

Devotional Service.

The devotional service for the day was led by Rev. Warren T. Whiteside of the First Methodist church, and immediately after the noon recess, the assembly was entertained with some delightful musical numbers, which included a solo by John Grant, two vocal numbers by Mrs. Dean Oliver, and a piano selection fy Miss Alice Westbrook, who also played the singers' accompaniments. All these entertainers were from Deport.

In the afternoon, the teachers were accorded the privilege of using the Spring Lake golf course, and a large number of them took advantage of this courtesy, many others accompanying them to view the game.

This is today's program:

Morning

9:00—Devotional, Dr. Samuel Stanworth.

9:15—The Teaching Profession and the Scientific Attitude, Mr. Harris.

10:00—Address, A. M. Blackburn, state department of education.

10:30—Recess.

10:45—Sectional meetings:

Primary—Seat work, Miss Alford.

Intermediate—Nature Study in and Out of School room, Mr. Harris.

High School — English, Miss Black of Blossom.

Afternoon

1:30—Entertainment.

1:45—The School of Tomorrow (Illustrated)—Dr. Miner.

2:30 — Address, County Agent Carl Tanner.

3:00—Recess.

3:15—Sectional meetings:

Primary—Numbers and Devices for Drill Work, Miss Alford.

Intermediate—Modern Methods of Teaching Geography, Mr. Harris.

High School — English, Miss Black.

Further announcement will be made of the Chamber of Commerce entertainment for Thursday evening.

FERGUSON SAYS

should the senate adopt a resolution calling for investigation.

Petsch's resolution recited that, but for the unusual condition now existing in state affairs, the house resolution would have been a concurrent resolution, and that no reflection was cast upon the senate by the fact that the house resolution was a simple one.

The house adopted almost unanimously to petition the governor to submit the question of raising the per capita scholastic apportionment to $15.

Faces Two Fights

Called for validation of $100,000,000 worth of road district bonds, the thirty-ninth legislature in the second day of the special session, faced two fights, the first on how and when the investigation into state departments will be made and the second on Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson's recess appointees.

Validation of the bonds was slated to be put through in rapid fashion, the general validation bill and 55 bills for that many road districts in Texas affected by the United States supreme court decision in the Archer county bond case.

Some fight will be made against a few of the proposed district bills before a pjoint hearing to be held by the civil jurisprudence committee of the senate and the judiciary committee of the house of representatives late today. This will be instigated zecause some of the taxpayers in the district claim that they did not get value received.

Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson is to submit her recess appointees to the senate for confirmation today. The senate will go into executive session to consider the appointees. A revised list of the governor's recess appointees shows that 167 are to be submitted, including Charles O. Austin, banking commissioner, appointed to fill out the unexpired term of J. L. Chapman; T. E. Hubbard, state game, fish and oyster commissioner, and T. H. McGregor of Austin, member of the interstate water conservation commission.

Committees Swamped

AUSTIN, Sept. 14. (AP)—An avalanche of bills to validate Texas district road bonds affected by the United States supreme court decision in the Archer county bonds case, slid into the senate records on the second day of the specal session of the thirty-ninth legislature and swamped the committees to which they were refererd.

Within the first hour 125 validating bills were introduced in te senate and after some minor legislation was introduced, the senate recessed until 2:30 p. m. In the house thirty-five bills were presented.

Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson sent her second message to the senate today, requesting the confirmation of her judiciary appointees, including fourteen district judges, eight district attorneys, three states attorneys, two members of the commission of appeals to the court of criminal appeals, the three members of the court of civil appeals, eleventh district, and the two commissions of appeals to the supreme court, consisting of three each.

PROHIBITION IS AMONG ISSUES IN ELECTIONS

Voters Of Nine States Cast Ballots For Candidates Tuesday

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—Prohibition and American adhesion to the World court figured prominently again today among issues before voters of nine states who went to the polls to choose party standard bearers for state and federal offices.

The campaign of Washington Cook, member of the governor's council in Massachusetts, against Senator William M. Butler, chairman of the Republican national committee, for the party senatorial nomination, has featured advocacy of modification of the Volstead act. Former Senator David I. Walsh has no opposition for the Democraitc nomination.

In Louisiana, Senator Broussard (Dem.), was opposed for renomination by Jared Y. Saunders, former governor and a dry.

Dry Issue in Maryland

Prohibition likewise featured the Maryland Republican primary, where Senator O. E. Weller was opposed by Representative John Philip Hill, who is prominent among wet forces in the house. Representative Millard Tydings has no opposition for the Democratic senatorial nomination.

Senator Wesley L. Jones, a dry, is opposed in Washington by six candidates for the Republican senatorial nomination. The subject of prohibition has been prominent during the campaign.

In Colorado Senator Rice W. Means, reputed to have the support of the Ku Klux Klan, is opposed for the Republican nomination by the forces of Clarence C. Hamlin, Republican national committeeman, who heads the anti-Klan wing. National issues played no part in the campaign, which was one of personalities.

Run-off in South Carolina

In South Carolina a run-off primary found Senator Ellison D. Smith contesting for the Democratic nomination with Col. Edgar A. Brown, speaker of the state house of representatives. Neither received a majority in the original primary. Colonel Brown has attacked Senator Smith's vote in favor of American adherence to the World court.

In Vermont Senator Porter H. Dale had no opposition for the Republican nomination, but the voters were choosing candidates for state offices and for members of the national house of representatives.

In New York the wet and dry question was prominent in four congressional districts, three dry Republicans being opposed for renomination by wets, while there was also one wet and dry fight for a Democratic congressional nomination.

In Michigan the campaign hinged upon purely state issues, with Gov. Alex J. Groesbeck, running for his fourth Republican nomination as chief executive against Col. Fred W. Green, for years mayor of Ionia.

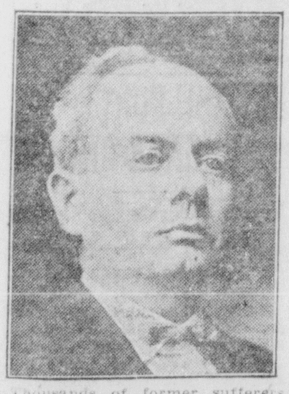
Medicine Rated As Performing Near Miracles



Thousands of former sufferers from stomach and bowel troubles—many of whom had given up hope of ever being well—unqualifiedly indorse "Gordon's," the scientific discovery of a well-known Dallas pharmacist, as a medicine for the successful treatment of stomach and bowel troubles. Some even go so far as to rate it as performing "near miracles."

"Gordon's" is sold by good druggists—$1.50 for 64 doses — less than 3 cents a dose. Your druggist will refund your money if one bottle fails to benefit you. Ask your Druggist for "Gordon's."—Adv.

QUESTION DEALERS WHO HAVE ALCOHOL EXTRACTS

DALLAS, Sept. 14. (AP)—Federal prohibition agents are secretly examining Dallas wholesalers and druggists who received shipments of various extracts containing 40 to 50 per cent alcohol now being held in warehouses by the officers pending investigation.

Dozens of local business men in the past ten days have been called before the examiners behind locked doors in the federal building.

The agents are said to be trying to learn whether handling of the some $30,000 worth of extracts involves any violation of the national prohibition act. It was announcedd today that the examiners expect to complete their findings this week and present them to the federal grand jury convening September 27.

Samples of the products in question have been seized by the agents and sent to Fort Worth for analysis and report.

Meeting begins at Oakridge Church of Christ, Roxton, Texas, Sunday night, September 19. J. W. Dunn, preaching. Everybody cordially invited to attend the services.

Father of Ten Killed

BROWNWOOD, Texas, Sept. 14. (AP)—William Mack Allison, 81, for fifty years a practicing attorney at San Saba, died in a hospital here early today following injuries sustained last week when his buggy horse ran away and he was thrown down an embankment. His wife and ten children survive him.

Maine Goes Republican

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 14.—Maine went solidly Republican in the biennial state election yesterday and the result as a political barometer was interpreted differently today by Republicans and Democrats.

Gov. Ralph O. Brewster was re-elected by a majority of 20,000 or more over his Democratic opponent, Ernest L. McLean, mayor of Augusta. The state's four congressmen, all Republicans, were re-elected.

Rattler Bite Fatal

HASKELL, Sept. 14. (AP)—Jesse French, blacksmith of Rule, Texas, died here Sunday from a rattlesnake's bite. French stepped on the snake Saturday night while on a fishing trip on Paint creek, 15 miles from here.

An Evidence of Refinement

The use of Wrigley's chewing gum takes care of this important item of personal hygiene in a delightful, refreshing way.

Wrigley's removes odors of dining or smoking from the breath by cleaning the teeth, by stimulating the flow of digestive juices, and by the antiseptic action of the flavoring extracts for which Wrigley's is famous—"The Flavor Lasts!"

The result is a sweet breath that evidences care for one's self and consideration for others — the final touch of refinement.

"Flapper" Type Doomed by Victory of "Miss Tulsa" in Beauty Contest

The decline of the Flapper is heralded in the victory of a quiet, unbobbed girl as America's new Queen of Beauty. She is Miss Norma Smallwood, of Tulsa, Oklahoma, whose winsome loveliness gained the Atlantic City pageant decision for her over "Miss Washington" and "Miss New York," who took second and third place respectively. Her hair is unbobbed, her hair is dark, her eyes are blue and her complexion fair. She is far from the "flapper" style.

NEGRO SHOT IN HEATED DISPUTE OVER RELIGION

HUGO, Okla., Sept. 14—Many and devious are the motives for shooting affrays in Choctaw county. Comes now a new one—that is, so far as this locality is concerned.

While returning from a church service 10 miles southeast of here, Louis Russell and Henry Clay, negroes, became involved in an argument over religion. The dispute waxed warm, and terminated abruptly when a shot was fired. Russell was on the receiving end. The bullet struck a shoulder, ranged downward through a lung and lodged under the skin under a shoulder blade.

Clay is in jail. Russell may recover.

DR. BOWDEN TO SPEAK ON PREVENTION OF DISEASE

HUGO, Okla., Sept. 14—Dr. D. T. At Plaza Today and Thursday

A sparkling, rollicking comedy, laid in the society atmosphere of Palm Beach and other Florida beauty spots, glorified by the bewitching presence and humorous antics of Bebe Daniels, and depending for its thrills upon speedboat racing is what picture-goers may expect to see at the Plaza Theatre in "The Palm Beach Girl," today and tomorrow.

Just picture Bebe as a gawky country girl trying to learn the manners and mannerisms of the smart social set, falling in love with a handsome millionaire, adventuring with bootleggers and running wild in a sixty-mile-an-hour speed boat, and you'll begin to realize the hilarious fun and hysterical thrills wrapped up in this picture.

The story was adapted from the yarn by Byron Morgan and the play, "Please Help Emily" by H. M. Harwood, and is packed cram-full of speed, spice and suspense. There are enough funny gags and comedy situations to keep audiences in a constant uproar of laughter. Forrest Halsey wrote the scenario and Erle Kenton wielded the megaphone.

Lawrence Gray, who gave such a good account of himself opposite Gloria Swanson in "Stage Struck" and "The Untamed Lady," is happily cast as Bebe's leading man. Josephine Drake, Marguerite Clayton, John Patrick and Armand Cortes are others who assist Bebe.

Of the many exciting highlights in the production the big speed boat race—actual reproduction of the annual regatta near Miami Beach—is outstanding by virtue of its thundering action and hair-raising thrills.

DEMOCRATS TO FIGHT FOR FURTHER TAX REDUCTION

FURTHER tax reduction in the nation's tax bill to the extent of $500,000,000 will be attempted at the short session of Congress, according to Senator Simmons of North Carolina, chairman of the Senate finance committee. The demand will be based on a surplus of $560,000,000 which he asserts will be available in the treasury when Congress assembles and which the senator thinks should be distributed among the taxpayers.

Another and more cogent reason for the move, however, is to forestall anticipated action on part of the Republicans in the next Congress toward reduction by which they hope to gain favor in the presidential election in 1928. Therefore, it is expected Republican opposition will be encountered at the short session, since it is believed voters in 1928 would have forgotten all about the tax cut.

Taxpayers always welcome reduction in taxation regardless by which party made. If the government is in position to stand another tax cut it is to be hoped the relief will be forthcoming. However, there is but one way by which it can be brought about, and that is through reduction in expenditures. It is impossible to lower or decrease revenues so long as Congress persists in padding appropriation bills for various and sundry needless causes.

If the Democrats are in earnest about the demand for reduction in the tax bill, they will stand solid for reduction in expenditures. It is a simple proposition, and by that standard will the measure of their sincerity be taken.

INSECT CLEANLINESS

INFORMATION as to the habits of insects may not always be profitable, but it is interesting as a rule and most of us like to read at random of the life of some of the things that either annoy us or make us happy.

The Indianapolis News in a recent article observes the similarity of habits in the cat and grasshopper. Few persons have noticed it, perhaps, but the Indiana writer insists that the cat and the grasshopper have habits in common. The grasshopper has a passion for cleanliness and when he sets himself to the task of getting clean the motions followed are those of a cat. The biggest difference is that the cat has four legs and the grasshopper has to keep six in mind. The forelegs are used as a cat uses them. One leg will be carried to the mouth and rubbed over the back of the head, cat fashion. One feeler is held down by one leg while another leg is used to rub it up and down and remove any foreign matter. Getting the long, jumping legs into the mouth is something of a task but it can be done. The grasshopper will scratch himself all over, wash his head and neck and spend several minutes on his toilet if not disturbed. Harry Dietz, of the state entomologist's office, says that the habit of cleanliness in the cockroach is the cause of that insect's undoing. Although few good words are said for the cockroach, his personal habits are above reproach and when any substance adheres to him he is not happy until it is removed. He worke in the same manner as the grasshopper. Poison powder, dusted about a kitchen to rid the place of roaches, would be useless if the roaches were not inclined to be clean. When they run through the powder their first instinct is to remove it so they lick off the powder from legs and feelers and the poison that is swallowed results in death. If the cockroach were as dirty as he generally is reputed to be, the poison would have no effect.

At this stage in the proceedings a presidential possibility isn't necessarily very possible.—Columbus Ohio State Journal.

"France looking for more colonies," says a succinct cablegram. But obviously not American ones.—New York Morning Telegraph.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

GALLO-SPANISH TRADE TREATY

From New Orleans Times-Picayune:

IN her recent negotiations with her neighbor, France, for the drafting of a new commercial treaty, Spain made and supported vigorously a proposal that had it been accepted would have thrown an entire assorted stock of monkey-wrenches into international affairs Spain wished to embody in the treaty a most favored nation clause but with a restriction in favor of South American lands. The latter republics Spain is extremely anxious to attach as a purchasing clientele and planning to accomplish this special favoritism through a clause giving extra treaty consideration to "same-language" nations.

France remained polite, but wise held firm, realizing as she must that a same-language tariff policy would play hob with many existing agreements and throw international commerce into confusion. France directed attention especially to the fact that the acceptation of a "same-language" principle would lead to an immediate tariff union, or its equivalent, between Germany and Austria, something which the allies have persistently refused to permit, knowing as they do that this would be tantamount to a dangerous association of the Teutonic nations.

France apparently avoided the use of a still more formidable argument, namely, the possibility that England and America might accept the "same-language" principle and exchange tariff favors on that basis over and beyond those granted to all other nations. Under the "same-language" favoritism Switzerland would be in a most remarkable position. With three official languages to her credit, she might claim special treatment at the same time from Germany, France and Italy, and perhaps from Belgium.

Spain, as we have indicated, finally weakened on this clause and signed a commerciacl agreement which should open the way to an increased commerce between the Iberian peninsula and France, to their mutual interest.

OLD GRANDAD AND GRAN[illegible]

From Marshall News:

OLD GRANDAD didn't have all the advantages we have in these times. He never spent any money getting his girls' necks shaved at the barber shop; he never blowed in his money going to the movies; he spent his money for axle grease instead of gasoline; he didn't have any bath tubs, and as he did his washing in the creek he didn't take a bath as often as his grandson does; he never smoked a cigarette in his life and no woman ever manicured his nails; in fact, the old man's life was rather humdrum.

But he never divorced grandma; he never drank any near beer; he never took lessons on the piano; he never played a saxaphone; he paid his debts; never slept in pajamas; he hardly ever went to a leg show and if he was living now there would be no necessity of his going; he went to church pretty regular and backed up the teacher when he whipped the kids; grandma didn't belong to the parent-teachers association but put up her own good luncheons for her children; there were just lots of things these old folks didn't do and didn't know anything about, but they worked hard and founded a civilization that ought to be better than it is, taking into consideration their faithfulness and industry.

A RELIC OF BARBARISM

From Cleburne Review:

CONVICTION is growing that the strike has become an outworn weapon. The failure of the New York subway strike, following closely upon the collapse of the spectacular general strike in Great Britain, and the recent unsuccessful coal strike in our own country, is evidence of a new industrial era.

Such good as it was able to accomplish has been secured, and the world is moving on.

The strike is a relic of the time when men used violence as a substitute for intelligence. Laboring men realize that there must be a better way, and the leaders of both labor and industry who fall back upon such obsolete methods as the strike and the lockout, do not show sufficient intelligence to lead.

About all college does for some fellow boys is educate them so they can't tell when it's going to rain.

Some write long letters home about the fun they are having, while those having the fun have no time to write.

WORLD TOPICS

EUROPE RESPECTS AMERICA'S BETTER BUSINESS METHODS

By M. W. ALEXANDER
President National Industrial Conference Board, in a Statement.

THE most impressive thing about life in European countries today is the pervading influence of America, and everything American, I refer not only to the more obvious, surface things, such as American movies, or American jazz. Nor to the all-important subject of American loans, which are so immense a factor in European finance and rehabilitation and politics. I am referring to the conviction that has come to the thinking men of affairs namely, that we in America are doing not only spectacular and outlandish things, which was the thing that was generally expected of us before the war, but that we have and are accomplishing things in America that mark an advance and improvement over the methods and achievements of Europe, so old in experience and rich in culture.

Perhaps in no field is this growing respect for American achievement as marked as in that of industrial economics. While there has been, and to some extent it, among many European people a feeling that America owes much of its present prestige and financial strength to the fortunes of war, American industrial achievements during the past five years have opened the eyes of industrialists abroad to a different view. Our ability to pay the highest wages in the world and at the same time to be able successfully to compete with foreign makers in their home markets as well as neutral fields has caused European industrialists and economists to pay us the compliment of studying our methods, to ascertain the secret of how the thing is done.

Recent agitation in the United States for added governmental supervision of interstate business brings to mind the strong contrast of the comparative business prosperity enjoyed by the United States as against the trying times being experienced by industry and commerce in European countries where governmental supervision, governmental direction and paternalism is the outstanding policy, and in some countries is being carried to such extremes.

Wtihout going into the merits of different governmental measures, the great and significant fact stands out that America's industrial and commercial greatness is the concomitant phenomenon of a governmental system whose cardinal principle is to guarantee to all the free pursuit of life, liberty and happiness, and to respect the privacy of their business affairs. I do not think that our conditions warrant any change of policy, nor that the authority of our Government is in need of strengthening.

The Real Yellow Peril

ANDREW AND IMOGENE

By Roe Fulkerson

"I wish I had something to eat," said Andrew, yawning.

"The reason you're getting fat is because you always eat before going to bed," Imogene reproved.

"It is not a theory but a condition which confronts us!" replied Andrew.

"What would you like?" asked Imogene.

"An order of chow mein," replied Andrew. "What you got?"

"I guess you could find something in the refrigerator."

"What's there?" he asked.

"Several things. I think there were some peaches left. How would you like some peaches and cream?"

"I'd love it!" Andrew spoke with enthusiasm.

"The peaches and the cream are both in the refrigerator," said Imogene. "Be sure and put the peach peelings in the little white enameled pan in the corner of the kitchen sink and do not bring them in the dining room. I have that Irish lace table cover and peaches stain so. You will have to peel them and eat them on the pull-outtable part of the kitchen cabinet. Be sure you put the dish under the hot water spigot and rinse it and put the cream back in the refrigerator and—"

Imogene resumed her story and heard nothing of him but an occasional noise on the back porch where the refrigerator stood. When she had finished reading he came into the room.

"Did you put the cream back into the refrigerator as I told you?"

"Yes," he said, grumpily.

"Did you put the peach peelings into the little enameled pan in the corner of the sink?"

"No, I didn't. I didn't peel the peach and I didn't eat in the kitchen and I didn't mess the Irish setter table cloth!"

"Why, Andrew, what was the matter?"

"Why didn't you tell me that you had a vegetable market and a butcher shop and a milk dairy and a delicatessen store and a pickle foundry in that confounded refrigerator?

"I opened the compartment just under the ice. Out of it I took two bottles of milk, one of them sour, one bottle of buttermilk, 'cause I tasted it, three bottles of cream, all of them only partially full, one half of a watermelon and two square-faced gin bottles full of water cooling, but no peaches.

"Then I opened the long door and off of the top shelf I took two ears of cold corn on the cob.. I found two cold pork chops on the half shelf and one box of unopened sardines. I took out a dish of mixed pickles and ate a piece of cauliflower, only to find that they are those plagued sweet pickles I do not like. I got to the back of the shelf and found a honeydew melon which rolled out onto the back stoop down the steps and out into the yard.

"I put those all back where I found them. On the next shelf I found a dish of cold corn and another of stewed tomatoes. I got my finger into the tomatoes and I am glad of it. I found a butter dish with a lot of butter in it and I got that on my cuff. Then I got out a dish of cold fried fish. Why would anyone want to save old fried fish, anyway?

"I put these things back. On the bottom shelf I found a dish of lima beans and an uncooked stead. After I got these out of the way I found a package of breakfast bacon and some sticky sweet stuff that looked like orange marmalade and tasted like the dickens. Then I found the blamed little box and in it was one peach, half rotten, and just as I found it Carpenter's cat went through the back yard and I was so mad I threw the peach at it and broke down the tallest dahlia plant which was about to bloom and I am glad of it! That's not a family refrigerator! It is a cold storage warehouse!"

DINNER STORIES

Britishers like to tell this joke on the American passion for standardization:

A man was being questioned by an employer on his suitability for a fairly important job as a mechanic.

"But," said the employer, "are you an all-around man—a thoroughly trained mechanic?"

"Oh, yes," the man assured him; "for six years I had experience at the Ford works."

"And what did you do there all that time?"

"Well," said the man, "I screwed on nut 467."

Here's a swimming story from Maoriland. The small girl had been beaten in the school swimming carnival, her rival winning by about a yard. The small girl, to her family's surprise, took the beating nonchalantly. "You see," she explained gravely at the family teatable, "Eugenia Gropher should swim better'n anybody else. Her father keeps a fishshop!"

A couple of clubmen were speaking of a fellow member when one remarked,

"I dislike to say it, but really Reginald is the most egotistical young man I have ever met."

"What leads you to say that?"

Our Daily Health

By Royal S. Copeland, M. D U. S. Senator from New Yor Former Commissioner of Healt New York City

Exercises to Make a Life Vigorous

Every nation has its own way of doing things. I am rejoiced to see what Czechoslovakia, the northern name for Bohemia, is undertaking in the way of physical education. That country may be poor in national wealth of the ordinary kind, but when it has good health and sound bodies for all its people, it will show its riches in a much more important way than by bank balances.

All over the country there have been organized what they call "Sokols." The membership approaches a million. The organization is particularly popular with the young women members, who enter enthusiastically into the drills and gymnastic performances.

I saw a photograph showing 14,000 Czech maidens in a marvelous exhibition of the physical drilling they have learned in the Sokols. The report said: "The rhythm was supplied by four great orchestras, and the grace, smartness, beauty and precision of the varied, difficult and complicated movements aroused the unbounded enthusiasm of the multitude of spectators."

I don't know any Slavic, but I wonder if the word "sokol" has not the same orgin as the Latin "socio," meaning to unite or associate together for the common good. Apparently the Sokols are co-operative organizations.

When any nation determines to bring together great bodies of men and women, there is an opportunity to give instruction in all things making for individual and community welfare. To my mind, health and sanitation, proper eating and correct physical habits, are things in which instruction should be given every citizen.

We have mass meetings for everything else under the sun, why not for health? Community health is vastly more important than community singing—and I have nothing but praise for that, too. Schools for health are of more lasting benefit than writing schools.

You need no gymnasium in order to have a place and means of exercising. When you are properly instructed in a few setting-up exercises you can take them wherever you are, just exactly as well as in the finest physical training establishment in the world.

You cannot be well and strong unless you keep your muscles, heart and breathing apparatus in good order. You cannot keep them right unless you exercise. Take a few lessons and be ready for a life-time of vigor.

If you confine yourself to one exercise, let it be deep breathing. If you will practice taking deep breaths a few minutes every morning, it will do more to improve your digestion and do more to increase your fund of health than anything else I can suggest. It is essential that the full capacity be developed. Too many people go through life with undeveloped chests. While deep breathing may not be considered an exercise in the ordinary sense, it is an exercise which will make for the development of the muscles of the entire body.

LIVING and LOVING

BY FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

"OF COURSE, YOU PLAY BRIDGE!"

"Of course, you play bridge!" remarked the Man with an inflection that told as plainly as words could tell his personal opinion of any one who didn't.

"Of course, I do not!" replied the Woman in tones untinged by hesitation. "And what is more, I never intend to."

"Er—well—but—why not?"

Surprise somewhat displaced the scorn in the inflection. The Man found considerable difficulty in admitting, even thus negatively, the possibility of a friend of his committing such a social error. But the woman was unperturbed.

"Because I don't like rows and rumpuses!" she declared stoutly. "At every bridge party I have attended the most unpleasant squabbles have occurred. And over nothing at all!"

"There's where you're wrong!" countered the Man. "I'd be willing to gamble that the ones who make the accusations that brought on the 'squabbles' did so with good reason. Hm! I have learned a lot about women from the games I've played with them. Most of them think bridge is a good excuse for getting together to talk gossip. Totally disregarding the earnestness of her partner, who is very likely playing the game for the science of it and is anxious to test his skill, at the very moment when success hangs upon the fixity of mind, Madame tosses a conversational scrap across the table to her fair opponent.

"Well, what of it?" truculently demanded the Woman. 'Winning isn't a matter of life or death, is it? Better luck next time. That's the very thing I hold against bridge as a recreation. Most of its players take it and themselves so seriously. Now, when I play a game I play for the fun of it. I don't want to feel that every move I make is a matter of such importance. The very fact that it seems to be is a weight upon my shoulders!"

"Now listen here," said the Man, if not grammatically, at least with force. "Suppose a gentleman should invite you to dance, and when you auccepted his invitation, trusting that he knew how to 'trip the light fantastic,' would step all over your feet. Would you like that?"

"No; but——"

"But nothing!" interrupted the Man, heatedly. "It's a poor rule that will not work two ways. That woman's partner at bridge has a perfect right to expect her to know the rules, to 'watch her step' and to abide by the etiquette of the game!"

"Then, too, I object to post-mortems!" continued the Woman, calmly ignoring the Man's last remarks. I am a firm believer in letting a dead past bury its dead. But you bridge players are post-mortem hounds and spend all the time between plays dissecting the late lamented.

"Through many a post-mortem has come knowledge," remarked the Man. "However, my good woman, it is evident that until you change your mind you will never be a good bridge player. Let us talk of other things."

And they did! But the Woman, convinced against her will, is now not of the same opinion still. After all, there really was something in what the Man said. And that "something" is pretty well summed up in the old adage:—

"Whatever is worth doing at all is worth doing well."

Ringling and Barnum and Bailey's Circus to Come to Paris on October Six

The biggest circus that mortal eyes have ever gazed upon is on its way to Paris. It's the combined Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Greatest Show on Earth that is being advertised to exhibit here both afternoon and night on Wednesday, October 6.

Fifty bill-posters lithographers and bannermen armed with tons of eye snaring posters will make the [illegible] known for miles around.

Needless to say the announcement is meeting with the thorough approval of youngsters of all ages and both sexes, and from one to another the good news wings its way.

The first of the three publicity cars devoted to the extensive billing of the [illegible] amusement institution arr[illegible] last night, and before [illegible]day vivid pictorial promise of what may be seen in actuality under the "big top" will be emblazoned from windows, walls and billboards throughout this territory.

The advance press representative states that the mammoth program presented by the circus this season is in every respect bigger than anything in gigantic entertainment heretofore witnessed. Such amazing features, as five massive woden rings of imposing displays and six elevated stages of arenic wonders are now presented for the first time in history. Three hundred and fifty performing horses, one act alone bringing into superb action 200 dancing, marching thoroughbreds are offered in a dazzingly beautiful "Equine Ballet."

The "great colossus" is now traveling on 100 double-length railroad cars specially designed to carry more than 1,600 people, including 800 of the greatest men and women stars ever assembled. Entire families and troupes of famous performers are presented in acts and features of unprecedented scope and newness. These extend over the entire length of the 700-foot long main tent, frequently there being no less than 11 groups in action simultaneously.

Five herds of performing giant and baby elephants appear in a single display.

One hundred of "the funniest clowns on earth" will bring carloads of laughter for the kiddies and grown-ups. The enlarged menageries of more than one thousand perfect specimens of rare wild animals includes a recently imported tiger, said by naturalists to be the largest and handsomest ever exhibited.

MOVIES RECRUIT FOR YOUNG SCREEN ACTORS

HOLLYWOOD, Cal.—Film producers have torn a sheet from the book of baseball managers and college football coaches and now each large motion picture company carries a squad of "rookies," promising young players destined to succeed to the places of the retiring veterans.

End Beauty Contests

This season has seen the end of the beauty contest era in motion pictures, a period during which producers often made their stars with quantities of pulchritude and scarcely a flavoring of histrionic talent.

Charlie Chaplin, Mary Pickford and Colleen Moore are stars of today who learned their trade by apprenticeship to stage and screen days when probation periods for film stars were unusual. Among the hundred or more of today's rookies who are in the final stages of their schooling and are waiting to make the final break into the front rank of film actors are such players as Dolores Costello, Clara Bow, William Haines, Ben Lyon and Lawrence Gray.

Train For Stardom

Natalie Kingston, great-granddaughter of California's first governor, is the latest addition to First National's unofficial school of acting. The training she is being given ,typical of that of others, will include appearance in support of prominent players and featured stars. As she becomes versed in screen technique she will play more and more important roles until at last she may succeed to stardom.

Scores of other girls are being given similar opportunities. A definite part of the work of the directors now is the finding and development of new talent. They are the scouts of motion picture producers.

FRENCH POET OR AUTHOR CAN PUBLISH FOR $30

PARIS.—No poet or author need despair of finding a publisher in France if he can dispose of thirty dollars.

For this sum he can have his best efforts printed in a neat edition of five hundred copies of ninety-six pages, with his portrait on the flyleaf, under the general title of "Poems Under the Lamp," or "Pages Under the Lamp," as the case may be. Each copy is marked five francs, the price to the public.

Four hundred of the 500 copies are given to the author to send to the press, put on sale, or distribute among his friends. The publisher keeps 100 copies, with the right to print further editions should the work prove a success.

If the price of thirty dollars for his help is too much for the budding poet or author to pay in one installment, he can liquidate his debt in twelve monthly installments.

WIDOWS AND WIDOWERS CLUB PLANS MEETING

ELYRIA, O., (AP)—The lonely members of the Widows and Widowers club, an organization which grew from a small Elyria house gathering four years ago into a correspondence club of national scope, will lay down their pens in October and come to Elyria to get personally acquainted.

Mrs. Nellie B. Stull, grand president and founder, is arranging plans for the first convention.

"I never realized there was so much loneliness in the world," said Mrs. Stull, who has received hundreds of proposals herself since she started her match making enterprise by inviting Elyria's widows and widowers to her Third street home.

"I got the idea from some pathetic wallflower scenes at our local dances. I had a hobby and I fostered it. Then it grew like a snowball in a storm of publicity."

Of the thirty-two charter members all except Mrs. Stull have deserted the ranks through marriage.

She estimates the number of successful marriages she has promoted at 250 and she says she has more than 1,000 "lonely souls" corresponding at the present time.

World's Largest Generating Unit Put Into Operation

Part of Brooklyn Edison Co.'s $50,000,000 Improvement

NEW YORK.—The Brooklyn Edison Company on September 1 put into operation the largest steam driven electric generating unit ever built.

It represents the latest development in modern Super-Power design and is typical of the large capacity high efficiency equipment which engineers expect will in time furnish most of America's electric power.

This generator, which is the fourth machine to be installed in the company's $50,000,000 power plant at the foot of Hudson Avenue (Brooklyn), was built by the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company at South Philadelphia.

Costing well over $1,000,000, the machine, which was run, delivers 80,000 kilowatts at 90 per cent power factor, while sufficient steam is being bled to heat its own feed water. This is equivalent to developing about 125,000 horsepower.

The overall length of this huge machine is 64 feet, 6 inches, and the entire unit weighs more than 2,000,000 pounds.

In addition to the turbine and electrical generators this new equipment also includes an 80,000-square-foot Westinghouse surface condenser of the two-pass radial flow design similar to the 70,000-square-foot condensers on the 50,000 kilowatt turbines which have been serving Brooklyn with light, heat and power for a year or more.

This new surface condenser is also the largest of its kind ever built.

Vast Amount of Wafer Used

Brooklyn Edison and Westinghouse engineering experts pointed out that some conception of the size of this individual condenser could be obtained from the fact that 144,000,000 gallons of water are passed through it by two circulating pumps every 24 hours, when the turbine generator unit is carrying full load. This, together with the three other units, will pass a total of 576,000,000 gallons every day, which is more than the combined daily water consumption of both the boroughs of Manhattan and the Bronx of the City of New York, where over three millions of people reside.

These generator units do not depend on the City's water supply, as the location of the Hudson Avenue generating station makes possible the utilization of the water from the East River, which is taken into the station by a subterranean tunnel large enough to accommodate several subway trains. The river water is taken in at one end and discharged at the other.

This illustrates the fact that it is only possible to locate Super Power plants where a vast amount of water is available, such as the sea, rivers and large lakes.

Speaking of the new fourth generator which was first run, Matthew S. Sloan, president of the Brooklyn Edison Company, said:

MATTHEW S. SLOAN

"We must keep in mind the best possible service for the community the utility serves.

"It has been my experience," he continued, "that the utilities think too much of the 'public' and too little of the human beings who compose the public.

"And the utilities should not only remember that the public are human beings, but they should remember it is necessary for the public to appreciate that the utilities are human.

Service to the Public

"If it's necessary to prove we're human," added Mr. Sloan, "let's prove it, and let us do whatever is necessary to prove it. Let us get away from the red tape, 'brass-grill-in-front-of-the-desk' methods. Let us emphasize the 'public service' rather than the 'corporation' in our designation. Let us pay more attention to the spirit of the transaction than the letter. Let us consider more the earning of public approval than the earning of dollars. Let us earn that approval, the dividends will be earned none the less surely.

"It is interesting to know," asserted Mr. Sloan, "that light is the only commodity which has steadily decreased in price during the last 40 years, a period characterized for the most part by rising prices. Light at present costs only 5 per cent of what it did in 1880. It is now and will continue to be the policy of the Brooklyn Edison Company to share voluntarily with its customers every benefit that accrues to it and every saving it can accomplish by more efficient methods and a devoted spirit of service that made the rate cut possible."

Population on the Move

In 1919 under the impetus of wartime rents, the population of Manhattan and the Bronx began to move out of the congested centers in search of homes at more reasonable prices. The Brooklyn Edison Company foresaw the rapid growth of that borough and the demand for electric service and made its plans accordingly. The engineers of the company worked out a generating and distribution system that would be prepared to meet any calls and be capable of indefinite expansion. The central point of focus of the plans for development was the new Hudson Avenue Generating Station and an essential feature of the plans, both for the generating and distributing systems, was that all new installations should be of such a character that they would be permanent regardless of the growth of the system.

Every attempt was made to have this massive group of buildings of the Brooklyn Edison Company's plant an architectural addition to Brooklyn's water front. The enormous size of the building did not admit of embellishment in the way of mere prettiness, and so the attempt was made to carry out the masses of the building in such a way as to give the effect of rugged power on the one hand, and of clean, fine workmanship on the other.

ONLY ONE COURT IN SESSION TUESDAY

The appearance docket was called in the sixth district court Tuesday morning for the puurpose of taking orders and setting the cases for trial on the civil docket. A few non-contested divorce cases were tried.

As the business of the sixth district court is principally concerned in the disposition of criminal matters most of the activity for the first week or two centers around the grand jury room and the work of the riding bailiffs.

The sixty-second district court was not in session at all during the day and Judge Phillips did not return from Cooper, as there was no case on the day's assignment of the docket to be disposed of.

He is expected, however, to occupy the bench today.

EMPLOYMENT AGENCIES LABOR'S CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, (AP)—Wall Street is the barometer of big business, but there is another gauge equally important for "the man in the street."

It has no special designation, is not graced with a name, and does not give out statements, but its quotations are posted daily.

Near Fifth Avenue

The location is in itself an unusual one. One block to the east is the exclusive shopping district of Fifth Avenue, and one block to the West is the Broadway playground.

The agencies maintain large bulletin boards in front of their small places with small slips of paper pasted to them. Each is the offer of a job.

One will herald the need of a "Dishwasher, $20 weekly," another for a laborer at slightly more. Some recruit jobs in town, but the majority of them are from far places. Many of the jobs are "sight unseen," with certain wages offered and transportation to some distant place.

Food Is a Factor

The matter of transportation and "board" is important to the applicants, for few visit these sidewalk agencies until every other source has been exhausted. At present, there are far more offers of jobs than takers, as a man finds it easier to shift with no money in the Summer than in colder weather.

Standing in knots on the sidewalk, workmen will discuss the notices, much as brokers downtown discuss prices, sales and market conditions of certain stocks.

Here the talk is about the range of wages, and the comparative desirability of shipping to a lumber camp in Minnesota or a railway camp in Arizona.

One class of hoboes permits companies to transport them wtih laboring gangs of honest workmen and then "jump camp" at the destination. In spite of all precautions, there is a "shrinkage" in almost every consignment of men, and agencies usually send a few more than are requested in order to be sure to deliver the right number.

Young Lovers Die In Suicide Pact

Miss Pearl Waite, 16, and Ernest Miller, 18, of Kearney, Neb., were lovers, and planned to be married in spite of family objections. Renewed opposition to their marriage is believed to be responsible for a "suicide pact," as a result of which their bodies were found in a ravine near Kearney. It is assumed the boy shot the girl and then turned the gun on himself.

SUPREME COURT DOCKET SHOWS NATION'S PULSE

WASHINGTON, (AP)—When the historian of these times looks for a record of the deep national impulses which have governed the development of the American nation, he will find it ready to his hand in the year-to-year docket of the supreme court.

Litigation before the court is a barometer of all of those controversial questions which attain the stature of real natonal issues. The court's mechanism is not fluttered by passing political commotions but like the seismograph, which measures earthquakes, it sets down infallibly the story of every really great upheaval in national thought.

Index of New Issues

There was a time when the trend was shown by the predominance of anti-trust cases and labor and railroad litigation on the crowded docket of the ccurt. But these and other active rational problems of a few years ago have been crowded aside by the vigorous growth of new issues.

Prohibition Takes Lead

Today prohibition enforcement takes the lead, not only in the number of cases pending, but in the variety of questions presented for decision. Then comes a group of cases incident to the present-day intensive industrial development—mostly the outcome of proceedings instituted originally by the federal trade commission.

Next may be listed questions arising out of the inquisitorial turn of mind in congress. They include the naval oil cases, and others involving the right of the legislative branch to delve into new fields of inquiry.

Alien Property Question

The question of what to do with alien property seized during the world war, around which a new chapter of interntional law is being written, has thrown into the court another interesting group of cases, including the German ship litigation and the battle over the German chemical and dye patents.

Many cases in these groups are likely to be decided soon after the court reassembles in October, while others still are in the earlier

EXCELLENT FIGHT CARD SCHEDULED THURSDAY NIGHT

Welterweight Champ A. E. F. and Sailor Murphy to Mix; Also Williams-Murphy Bout

What promises to be the best of the several good fite nite cards to be sponsored by Battery A will be held Thursday night at the Texan Theater. It is a real card that has been programmed for the fight fans of the city, and should attract a big crowd.

The feature event of the evening will be a ten-round mill between Buddy Pope of Dallas, welterweight champion of the A. E. F., and Sailor Johnny Murphy of this city. Murphy has won all his bouts so far in this city, and the fans know that when "Murph" crawls through the ropes there is going to be some action, as this fellow is a scrapper because he loves the game.

Both he and Pope are veterans of the ring and both are world war veterans—Pope with the army and Murphy with the navy. This will be a real scrap, as Murphy is known for his willingness to mix it, while Pope has quite a reputation himself.

Red Williams is scheduled for a go with another member of the Murphy family in the person of Tommy Murphy, another sailor and another scrapper. This is going to be a grudge battle, as both boys have a sneaking idea that he is the better and will endeavor to convince the other Thursday evening.

Henry Links and Dan Bell, a pair of fast and classy grapplers will meet in a finish bout in the best two of three falls. A battle royal between five husky dirges will be another attraction that will serve to add to the evening's sport.

There has been nothing but good clean exhibitions at the Texan and as Battery A is sponsoring them they will continue to be of a high standard.

New Change in Trans-Atlantic Air Crew Made

NEW YORK, Sept. 14, (AP)—By a last minute change in the much shifted personnel of the Fonck trans-Atlantic flight, Lieut. Allen Snody will not accompany Capt. Rene Fonck, but will be replaced by Lieut. William Curtin, Captain Fonck announced today.

Illness will prevent the participation of Lieutenant Snody, said Captain Fonck, in a statement in which he announced the names of the crew who will accompany him. They are Lieutenat Curtin, navigator and alternate pilot; A. Islamoff, mechanic, and Charles Clavier, radio operator.

"We may take off tomorrow at 5 o'clock, if weather conditions are favorable," said Captain Fonck. "Otherwise the next day, or the next; only the weather man can say exactly when."

Calculated upon the 1910-1920 rate of growth the population of Texas is now 5,400,000.

Farming olcupies 46 per cent of the people of Texas.

NO REASON TO DOUTHIT

Cardinal Fans Call Youngster Great Outfielder

By NORMAN E. BROWN

No one would mistake young Taylor Douthit, Cardinal centerfielder, for Tris Speaker or Ty Cobb after a close scrutiny of the lad. Especially at the plate. He hits from the third base side and everybody knows Cobb and Speaker constantly violate the rules of etiquet and turn their backs on the first baseman while batting.

Douthit mbay lack a bit of the finesse of these masters in centerfield too. But try to buy him from the St. Louis Cardinals.

He is quietly and unobtrusively struggling along, doing a bit more than his share to carry the St. Louis Cardinals along at the top of the National League heap and keep the hope of a flag flopping up and down in the breasts of Missourians.

This is Douthit's first season as a regular with the club, which makes his brilliant work all the more remarkable. The St. Louis club has owned him for two or three years but after acquiring him from the Fort Smith club of the Western Association they farmed him out first to St. Joseph in the same outfit and then to Milwaukee. It wasn't until he had won his spurs with the American Association outfit last season that the Cards decided he was ripe.

With the Milkaukee team Douthit hit .372 in 92 games and stole 26 bases. With the Cardinals he has maintained a fair batting average—above .300, and is playing good ball in center. He has a world of speed. The knowledge of batters that comes with experience will make him a more valuable outfielder in the coming campaigns. His main fault at bat is an apparent awkwardness. This doesn't prevent him, however, from connecting with the bal. And after all that is the main purpose in making faces at the pitcher.

There may be sweeter centerfielders among the younger generation of major leaguers but every durned baseball bug in St. Louis and suburbs will douthit if you try to say so.

*Previous close.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 14, (AP)—The cotton market was fairly active today, particularly during the afternoon when considerable liquidation developed. After a decline of 9 to 12 points in the earlly trading owing to lower cables and continued fair weather in the belt, prices rallied 13 to 17 points on a rumor that storm signals had been ordered upon the Louisiana and Texas coasts but the market turned easier again when the report was denied and eased off on a fair weather map, a favorable forecast and fears of a favorable weekly weather and crop summary tomorrow.

Although the downward trend was checked for a time near midsession on a fresh storm warning showing that three separate storms existed in the tropics, the market turned easier again during the afternoon and at the lows of the last hour prices showed losses of 45 to 47 points. There was a slight rally at the end and the close showed net losses for the day of 39 to 40 points.

At the start as Liverpool was lower than due, first trades showed losses of 8 to 10 points. During the first hour prices rallied 13 to 17 points from the lows. These proved to be the high points of the day.

Late in the morning prices turned easier and they kept on the downgrade for the rest of the session except for a few brief and moderate rallies. There was a rally of 5 to 7 points right at the end.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14, (AP)—The cotton market was nervous and irregular in today's early trading, as if influenced by conflicting reports regarding the tropical storm situation.

There were two of these disturbances, one being reported in the neighborhood of Cuba and the other off the Atlantic coast, and afte opening 1 point highr to 2 points lower, with active months showing net losses of 2 to 5 points, prices rallied on apprehensions that one of these storms might reach the coast.

December sold up to 17.23, the general list showing net advances of about 5 to 12 points. Except for the storm threat weather conditions were considered favorable, and the market was off a few points from the best at the end of the first hour.

Later reports concerning the tropical storm situation were more reassuring and the market weakened under continued Southern hedging with renewal of liquidation and local selling, by showing net declines of about 9 to 13 points.

The report of the census bureau on supply and distribution for August showed domestic consumption of 500,652 bales for August against 460,918 for July and 448,663 for August last year, uut was without any apparent effect on the market.

Fort Worth Livestock

FT. WORTH, Sept. 14, (AP)—Slow market in cattle and calves Tuesday. Bidding 15 to 25c lower on she stock; calves due to sell steady; hogs steady on a top of $15 for butcher weights of 201 pounds.

Receipts 2,500 cattle, 900 calves, 500 hogs.

Tuesday's receipts of cattle included 8 cars each of stocker and beef steers and 40 cars of she stock.

Slow progress was made in the beef steer section. First to sell was car of 1,219 pounds fed cattle to shipper at $7.85, same scale as took $7.75 Monday, but Tuesday cattle were dehorned. She stock met lower bids from the start 25c in extreme cases. Under this handicap little trading was done in the early hours of the market, best cows $4.65 and canners as low as $2.75, a quarter lower than the least desirable on Monday. Slow progress made.

Heifers taken on the early rounds $4 to $6. No yearlings cleared at better than $5.50. Better conditions apparent in the calf section through activity of shippers who priced $9.50 for light veals in car loads and a sizeable bunches, heavies $7.50 to $8.

Hogs of 200 pounds made $15 closing weak;; medium packers $14.60, heavy packers 13.40.

Chicago Grain

CHICAGO, Sept. 14—Heavy short covering by houses with eastern connections was largely responsible for attaining higher levels in the wheat market here today. Bulls were more aggressive than usual, because of the sustained strength in livestock and the unfavorable weather conditions in Canada. Strength in Winnipeg also helped lift values. Fluctuations were rapid when selling orders increased on the advances.

Wheat closed strong, at a net gain of 1 7-8 cents to 3 cents 1.37½-1.39, corn about unsettled, 3-8c lower to 3-8c higher, 83-84c, oats firm at ¼c to 7-8c gain, 39 3-4-42¾.

Cottonseed Oil

NEW YORK, Sept. 14, (AP)—After a mixed start in which October advanced slightly on covering, cottonseed oil today was subjected to hedge selling by refiners, and with easier crude, lard and cotton, turned weaker, closing at net losses of 5 to 20 points.

Sales 8,900 barrels. Prime crude 9.00 to 9.25; prime summer yellow spot 12.25 to 13.00; Sept. closed 12.25, Oct. 10.99, Dec. 10.12, Jan. 10.11, March 10.25.

New York Dry Goods

NEW YORK, Sept. 14, (AP)—Cotton goods markets were active today in wash goods and other finished lines. Gray goods were quiet. Yarns sold well at firmer prices, where special qualities were involved. Staple numbers were easier.

Worsted dress goods were in active demand for spot shipment and better demand was reported for spring sample pieces. Burlaps were little changed for the day, with Calcutta about steady.

Raw silk eased 10 yen in Yokohama and remained steady here. Consumption continues large. Silk fabrics for fall were bought freely for immediate cutting.

Paris Cotton Seed

DISSECTING FLAG CHASERS

Pirates Have Best Catching Staff

By NORMAN E. BROWN.

In comparing the relative merits of various departments of the teams waging battle for the National League pennant one must give the worlds champion Pirates the edge in the catching department.

I don't agree with Earl Smith's methods of nagging behind the plate, but he must be given credit for being a heady, fighting, aggressive catcher and one who knows his batters. And to back him up, figuratively speaking, is Johnny Gooch, a good catcher, if not a great one, in his own right. Gooch was slated to be the main bulwark behind the plate until Smith was acquired via the trade route.

EARL SMITH

JOHN GOOCH

The Cinci Reds boast the hardest hitting catcher in the league in Eugene Hargrave, who has been leading the league in batting. He is a fair catcher, too, but he lacks the finesse of Smith and the knowledge of National League batters. Val Picinich gives Boss Hendricks a good mate for Hargrave but the former Red Sox catcher is weak with the stick and not a consistent performer.

Bob O'Farrell, cast adrift by the Chicago Cubs last summer, is the star of the Cardinal staff and is doing good work behind the plate. Under the guidance of the crafty Bill Killefer, O'Farrell is helping Grover Alexander to redeem himself. But the Cardinal backstop doesn't rank with Smith in general work.

The Pirates and Cardinals have the benefit of two master strategists to help their catching staffs, which may mean much. Killefer, as said before, is a wizard at handling pitchers and reading batters and has imparted much of his knowledge to the Cardinal batteries. Fred Clarke, aiding manager Bill McKechnie of the Pirates, is a wise old head.

World's series fans will not soon forget how Earl Smith "got the goats" of Goose Goslin and other members of the Washington Senators last fall. His name has spread, which makes him all the more valuable.

CANNIBALS DEFEAT CHAMPION STEERS

Bowman's Homer in Ninth With Man On Produces Winning Run

LONGVIEW, Sept. 14. (AP)—Bowman's homer with a man on base in the ninth inning enabled Longview to defeat the Dallas Steers here today, 7 to 6.

NON-STOP FLIGHT WILL START SOON

French Ace to Take Off On New York to Paris Trip Late This Week

MINEOLA, N. Y., Sept. 14, (AP)—Captain Rene Fonck, French aoe, plans to take off from Roosevelt Field on his nonstop New York to Paris flight as soon after Thursday as the weather conditions will permit.

The three-motored Sikorsky biplane S-35 is undergoing final tests and alterations for the trip. Although Captain Fonck has not announced who will go with him on the flight, besides Lieut. Allan P. Snoddy, alternate pilot, it is understood he has selected Alexander P. Kratish as mechanic and Charles Cladier as radio operator. Kratish, a Russian, installed the motors, controls and the gas and oil systems of the S-35 and is thoroughly acquainted with the operation of the great plane. Cladier, a Frenchman, operated the plane's radio on the test flight to Washington last week.

Three extra ninety-gallon gasoline tanks are being placed in the S-35's fuselage, the glass windows are being replaced with celluloid and an extra set of wheels is being attached. These whels are designed to facilitate the takeoff and will be dropped once the flight is under way. The extra gasoline tanks will also be dropped when empty. The plane will weigh 27,000 pounds on the takeoff.

Cardinals Accept Ticket Requests

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 14, (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals today began to accept applications for tickets to any world's series games which may be played here. Applications heretofore received have been returned.

Applications will not be filled in the order in which they are received, but when it is estimated that envelopes containing enough orders to exhaust the 23,235 reserved seats and the indefinite number of box seats, the opening will begin. The entire grandstand will be reserved. The first envelop opened will become number one order, although it may have arrived hours after some other envelopes.

Only money orders, certified checks or cashier's checks in St. Louis or New York Exchange will be accepted. Applications should be addressed to the St. Louis National Baseball Club, postoffice box No. 220.

Prices will be $6.60 for box seats $5.50 for reserved seats, $3.30 for general admission and $1.10 for bleachers.

Herrin Suffers New Outbreak

HERRIN, Ill., Sept. 14 (AP)—A volley from guns of unidentified assailants near here yesterday brought death to William Holland, 20, and serious injuries to Mack Pulliam and his wife, Mildred, in what authorities term another episode of a liquor war that resulted recently in the death of two others.

Pulliam and his wife are in a hospital here today, but it is said both will recover, although it is feared the former will lose one arm.

Holland and Pulliam are alleged to have been linked with the Spelton gang, two of whose members, Everett Smith and Harry Walker, were killed in a roadhouse gun battle a month ago.

Pulliam told authorities he was returning with his wife and Holland from a dance when several men, whom he said he did not recognize, arose from the roadside and poured a stream of bullets into his automobile. Holland's body was riddled with pistol bullets and buckshot slugs. Pulliam was shot in the chest and arm, and Mrs. Pulliam was shot in the legs.
